WELCOME!

Lumina Youth Choirs exists to give talented young musicians the opportunity to elevate their musicianship while experiencing unique performance opportunities. These opportunities come through collaborations with professional organizations such as The Florida Orchestra, The Master Chorale of Tampa Bay, visiting choirs from around the state, country and the world, and concert tours that sharpen their performance skills, allow them to share their talents in unique places, and open their eyes to the world around them.

Our individualized choral music education curriculum serves as a supplement to the excellent training singers are receiving in their school programs and private lessons. Our Directors train the voice, build music literacy skills, and encourage appreciation of a wide variety of musical styles & genres.

We hope that all singers and family members who are part of LYC will form the foundation of a life-long love of music through their experiences with us!

Our Mission

Lumina Youth Choirs offers passionate young singers the opportunity to explore and experience the power of music in their lives.

Our Core Values

Lumina Youth Choirs is committed to:

- Developing musicianship, vocal technique, and performance skills by experiencing quality choral music of many styles
- Educating young musicians through sight-singing and music theory instruction
- Inspiring artistry through presentation of high-quality, engaging performances
- Building a community of friends where the youth of Tampa Bay can grow together in their love of music and singing
- Providing a supportive and inclusive environment that encourages participation of singers and families of diverse backgrounds
- Advocating the life-long benefits that are inherent in choral music making, such as teamwork, problem solving, interpersonal communication and self-discipline.

OUR CHOIRS:

Aurora (Children's Choir) is the perfect place for young singers to discover the joy of making music together. Designed for children who love to sing, whether they're brand new to choir or already enjoy making music, Aurora introduces the fundamentals of choral singing through engaging, age-appropriate activities. Singers develop healthy vocal habits, music literacy, rhythm, and creative expression while exploring movement, music technology, instruments, and traditional choral rehearsal in a fun and encouraging environment. Aurora performs in two major concerts each year, along with community performances and special events, giving every singer the opportunity to share their music with family, friends, and the community. No audition or interview is required to join.

Kyla Knauer, Director

Amiaza (Girls' Choir) is an intermediate choir for girls in grades 6–12 who love to sing and are ready to grow as musicians. Whether singers are building on previous choir experience or continuing their musical journey, Amiaza provides a supportive environment where they develop healthy vocal technique, strengthen musical literacy, and grow in confidence as performers. Through engaging and inspiring treble repertoire, singers experience the joy of making music together while building lasting friendships. Amiaza performs two major concerts each year, participates in community performances and special events, and tours domestically each season. Although there is no formal audition, an informal placement interview is required.

Judy Williams, Director

Serata (Boys' Choir) is an intermediate choir for boys in grades 6–12 with unchanged, changing, or changed voices. Whether singers are building on previous choir experience or continuing their musical journey, Serata provides a supportive environment where they develop healthy vocal technique, musical independence, and strong ensemble skills. Through engaging, flexibly voiced repertoire, singers grow as musicians while forming lasting friendships and discovering the joy of making music together. Serata performs two major concerts each year, participates in community performances and special events, and tours domestically each season. Although there is no formal audition, an informal placement interview is required.

Brian NeSmith, Director

Stele (Advanced Treble Choir) is our premier treble ensemble for experienced singers who are passionate about choral music and ready to take their musicianship to the next level. Singers are expected to learn notes and rhythms independently between rehearsals, so that weekly rehearsals can focus on refining vocal technique, musical artistry, and expressive ensemble performance through challenging and rewarding repertoire. Stele performs three major concerts each year, participates in community performances and special events, and tours domestically or internationally, providing memorable musical experiences both on and off the stage. Placement is based on a required audition.

Deah McReynolds, Director

Voci de Lumina (Advanced Chamber Choir) is our varsity chamber ensemble, chosen by audition from Stele and Serata. In this select ensemble, each singer plays an essential role and is expected to prepare music independently so rehearsals can focus on artistry, ensemble precision, and expressive performance. Voci performs a diverse repertoire spanning classical, contemporary, multicultural, a cappella, and vocal jazz styles. The ensemble performs two major concerts each year, participates in community performances and special events, and tours domestically or internationally.

Deah McReynolds, Director

WEEKLY REHEARSAL PROCEDURES

- Rehearsals for all choirs take place on Monday nights at Hyde Park United Methodist Church.
- Aurora, Amiaza, Serata, and Steele: 6:00 – 8:00 pm
- Voci di Lumina rehearses on Monday nights from 8:05 – 9:00 pm

Home Practice:

Home practice is essential to each singer's participation in LYC. The minimum home practice expectation is 15 minutes twice per week for our youngest singers, and daily practice for our upper division choirs, as assigned by the choir Director. Part tests and small group assessments will be given on a regular basis to ensure musical readiness.

Holidays:

LYC generally follows the Hillsborough County Schools public calendar observing these major holidays:

- Fall Thanksgiving Break
- Winter Break
- Spring Break

Inclement Weather:

In the event of severe weather, tropical storm or hurricane approaching our area, please keep an eye on our website, social media, and email for updates. In the event of rehearsal cancellation, we will utilize all available forms of communication, including Remind messages, to contact everyone.

Illness:

Contagious singers are asked to notify their director/choir coordinator and stay home to rest and recover. If your singer has a fever, they should not attend rehearsal. If your singer is not contagious and able to sit through rehearsal, she/he should come and listen and sing as able. If the singer's illness is more serious or more contagious (i.e., Covid-19, flu, croup, strep throat, chicken pox), we ask that the singer return when recommended by their doctor and with a doctor's note.

Pandemic Procedures:

In light of recent events involving Covid 19, if a similar situation occurs in the future where gatherings of large groups are prohibited, we will explore and pursue every avenue to fulfill our commitment to our singers and their families in the safest way possible. LYC follows the guidelines and recommendations for closures set forth by the Hillsborough County School Board. All other safety protocols are based upon current CDC guidelines and state and local government and healthcare recommendations.

DRESS REHEARSAL and CONCERT PROCEDURES

Concerts are held at various venues around the Tampa Bay area.

All Concerts and Dress Rehearsals are required events for singers.

Dress Rehearsals:

Dress Rehearsal is simply the final rehearsal prior to the performance. It is considered a full run through of all the music and logistical considerations without stopping. The Dress Rehearsal is the opportunity for singers to become accustomed to the venue, acoustics, riser placement, and logistical layout. While the Dress Rehearsal is intended to be a mock performance, singers are not required to wear their concert attire unless specifically asked to do so by their Director.

Dress Rehearsals are not open to the public, family, or friends. As with regular rehearsals, only background checked staff are allowed access to the singers during this time.

Call Time/Concert Time:

The Call Time is when singers are expected to arrive for warm up prior to the performance. The Concert Time is the precise time the performance begins.

Parent/Guardian Involvement for Concert Weeks:

Assistance is needed and encouraged in a wide range of areas including:

Set-up & Clean-up crew

Door monitors & Ushers

Ticket tables

Moving risers & equipment

Lunch/dinner monitors

Carpool Transportation

LUMINA YOUTH CHOIRS TOUR PHILOSOPHY

Touring and choral festival participation are fundamental aspects of the Lumina Youth Choirs program. Beyond the intrinsic value of learning unique repertoire and preparing to sing for unfamiliar audiences in various circumstances, singers grow as individual musicians and as a choir through days of fun and hard work together “on the road”.

Tour provides once-in-a-lifetime opportunities for singers to meet and interact with people from different backgrounds and cultures, including other choirs, singers, and people in the local community. Tackling the challenges and responsibilities of traveling as a group – sharing a hotel or dorm room with other choristers, planning activities with a small group exploring a new city, communicating with locals in a foreign language – helps each singer gain confidence and independence. Many Lumina Youth Choir graduates speak of choir tours as some of the most memorable and transformative experiences of their choir careers.

Through touring and participation in choral festivals Lumina Youth Choirs builds relationships with directors, choristers, and composers from around the world. These relationships broaden our perspective, and the reach of our choir increases on the national and international stage. Particularly in festivals, our choirs have the unique opportunity to perform new and distinctive repertoire while observing different rehearsal and performance techniques.

Lumina Youth Choirs intends for each singer to experience these things on Tour:

- Singing the concert repertoire at the highest levels of musical understanding, interpretation, expression, and excellence.
- Musical growth together as a choir as we perform in a wide variety of venues and acoustics, at various times of day, for many different kinds and sizes of audiences, and under many different circumstances (jet-lagged, after a long day of touring, right after another excellent choir sings, etc.).
- Performing music for audiences that are not guaranteed to be supportive—an audience not full of parents and family members, and often for people of different cultures and languages.
- Personal growth through the excitement, challenges, and responsibilities of group travel (keeping track of your belongings, sleeping/eating/spending time outside of one’s familiar comfort zone, ordering lunch in a foreign language, observing the customs of another culture, getting back to the bus on time, forging friendships with people from different backgrounds, etc.).
- Growth as a “choir team” forming new friendships and deepening bonds with current choristers through days of unique, shared experiences “on the road.”
- The privilege of traveling to another region/country and sharing part of your hard work and culture—not just being a tourist but bringing something (music and singing) to share with others.
- Forging friendships with people from around the region/country/world.
- At choral festivals, the opportunity to work with world-class clinicians in an intense, high-energy environment, alongside other young people from around the region/country/world who share our love of singing.
- Watching, hearing, and meeting choirs from around the region/country/world—seeing that there are many ways to do “choir” well.
- Making life-long memories singing, growing, and traveling together.

We look forward to making great memories together this season!
